

INN^{OR}OUT

Discover 500 years of Britain's encounter with the world at sea at the world's largest maritime museum. The Royal Museums Greenwich offers four versatile spaces for small and large scale corporate and private entertaining. The sites range from the modern spaces of Neptune Court and the Peter Harrison Planetarium to the historic settings of the Royal Observatory, Flamsteed House and the Queen's House

Royal Museums Greenwich —SE10

National Maritime Museum—Neptune Court and Sammy Ofer Wing

With its soaring glass roof, the museum's vast, central Neptune Court provides a dramatic space ideal for gala dinners and receptions with its impressive entrance and dramatic interior spanning two levels making it ideal for combined receptions and dinners.

The Sammy Ofer Wing is the latest addition to the museum and creates a spectacular, contemporary environment in which to host your event.

The Peter Harrison Planetarium

This is a modern, versatile venue with contemporary lines and abundant light. There are also two courtyard areas where guests can enjoy warm summer evenings.

The Queen's House

The Queen's House, designed by Inigo Jones in 1616, is England's first purely classical building. The Queen's House provides a unique and elegant setting for a variety of corporate events, and is the only venue at the site licensed for civil ceremonies.

Royal Observatory Flamsteed House

Within the historic Flamsteed House at the Royal Observatory Greenwich, sits the charming Octagon Room, one of the last surviving interiors designed by Sir Christopher Wren. This elegant venue is ideal for high profile corporate dinners and receptions. And private landmark events.
