→ Making it big
 When Lena Björck moved to London from Sweden, she didn't have money or a job. Now the self-made millionaire is running one of the most successful catering businesses in the UK (called Inn or Out) and was recently named one of London's most inspiring entrepreneurs by the Evening Standard and has cooked for President Clinton, Queen Elizabeth and Prime Minister Tony Blair. That's not bad for someone who says she left Sweden with no qualifications whatsoever and terrible grades.
