

THE GUARDS MUSEUM

The museum makes a tremendous venue for both corporate and private events. The museum is unique and always stimulates conversation and questions about the collection.

The museum houses the world of the young men who were, and still are, the soldiers of the Five Regiments of Foot Guards.

Here you can find everything from the glory days of scarlet and gold to the two devastating world wars tracing the dangerous role of present day soldiering in an increasingly volatile world.

Following the redevelopment of the Wellington Barracks it was decided that the Guards deserved to have somewhere to illustrate their proud heritage and this museum was opened in 1988.

The displays present the history by means of Uniforms, Colours, Weapons and more importantly, the personal relics and memorabilia of the soldiers who have served in these famous regiments in peace and war. Includes over thirty Victoria Cross medal groups.

People can wander around the galleries at their own speed or we can arrange a short guided tour.
